PEOPLE AND PLACES

Mrs. Dorothea Stone is home from Carlin, Nevada. Says she liked it there and met some really nice people, but it was quite cold when she left.

We had several calls asking us when the Ladies Club Meeting was to be held, and had to answer that we didn't know. No one contacted us, and since the phone was out of order a good deal of the time, we just didn't find out.

Audrey and Bill Holden are home again. Their friends are glad to see them back in Concow again.

As you probably all read, the Erich home was broken into again. An old antique round table was taken also some tools.

Ray and June Giles youngest daughter, Brenda, her husband and daughters are moving back to Pennsylvania. Brenda's husband had a promotion and transfer. They were living in the Los Angeles area.

Florence Wilson, formerly Florence Smith is planning on moving back onto her 80 acres in Yankee Hill. Has plans for developing part of her property, will give you more details later.

Leif and Evelyn Steinberger are planning on erecting their home this summer. It will be a geodesic dome structure. Their three daughters will be attending Chico State College.

A POLICEMAN

The following article appeared in The Curtis Courier of South Carolina.

"A policeman is a composition of what all men are, a mingling of saint and sinner, dust and deity ... Less than one-half of one percent of policemen misfit that uniform... He, of all men, is at once the most wanted and most unwanted... He must be such a diplomat that he can settle differences between individuals so that each will think he won.

"BUT.... If a policeman is pleasant, he's a flirt, if he's not, he's a grouch... He must be able to start breathing, stop bleeding, tie splints and above all be sure the victim goes home without a limp--or expect to be sued... He must know every gun, draw on the run, and hit where it doesn't hurt.

"He must be able to whip two men twice his size and half his age without damaging his uniform and without being 'brutal'.... If you hit him, he's a coward; if he hits you, he's a bully.... He must know where all the sin is-- and not partake... The policeman must chase bum leads to a dead end, stake out 10 nights to tag one witness who saw it happen--but refuses to remember.

"The policeman must be a minister, a social worker, a diplomat, a tough guy and a gentleman.... And, of course, he'll have to be a genius--for he'll have to feed and clothe his family on a policeman's salary."

DESIDERATA

The following was found in the old Saint Paul's Church in Baltimore, it was dated 1692.

GO PLACIDLY AMID THE NOISE AND HASTE AND REMEMBER WHAT PEACE THERE MAY BE IN SILENCE, AS FAR AS POSSIBLE WITHOUT SURRENDER be on good terms with all persons. Speak your truth quietly and clearly; and listen to others, even the dull and ignorant; they too have their story. Avoid loud and aggressive persons, they are vexations to the spirit. If you compare yourself with others, you may become vain and bitter; for always there will be a greater and lesser persons than yourself. Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans. Keep interested in your own career, however humble; it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time. Exercise caution in your business affairs; for the world is full of trickery. But let this not blind you to what virtue there is; many persons strive for high ideals; and everywhere life is full of heroism. Be yourself. Especially do not resign affection. Neither be cynical about love; for in the fact of all aridity and disenchantment is as perennial as the grass. Take kindly the counsel of the years, gracefully surrendering the things of youth. Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune. But do not distress yourself with imaginings. Many fears are born of fatigue and loneliness. Beyond a wholesome discipline, be gentle with yourself. You are a child of the universe, no less than the trees and the stars; you have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should. Therefore be at peace with God, whatever you conceive Him to be, and whatever your labors and aspirations, in the noisy confusion of life keep pace with your soul. With all its sham, drudgery and broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world. Be careful. Strive to be happy.

MAIDU INDIANS

This is more of the information passed on to us by Mrs. Leola Lunt.

The Maidu Indians had two contrivances for snaring wild fowl. One of them, a loose woven net which was stretched perpendicularly on two rods running parallel, to the surface of the water. The lower rod was lifted up a few inches so that the net was not taut, but hung down in a fold or trough. When the ducks flew low almost skimming the water, they thrust their heads through the meshes of the net, while the bodies dropped down into the fold, which prevented them from fluttering loose.

The other contrivance was also a net stretched on a frame projecting up and out of the water in a shallow place. Decoy ducks were fastened close by, or berries sprinkled on the bottom to attract the fowl. The Indian had a string attached to the frame and leading to the shore behind bushes where he waited. When the ducks swam close to the net he twitched it over them and they thrust their heads up through it, which prevented their getting away. With either of these contrivances they could sometimes snare a whole flock.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Since we are having all of this beautiful spring time weather, one begins to think of barbecuing and outdoor grills. So if you are so inclined, try these, they are excellent.

BARBECUED SPARERIBS, CHINESE STYLE

Leave spareribs in one piece and marinate 4 to 5 hours in mixture of $\frac{1}{2}$ cup water or chicken broth, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup soy sauce, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup each orange marmalade (or honey) and catsup, and crushed clove garlic. Drain, weave on spit and broil over slow fire, basting occasionally with marinade, 1 to $1\frac{1}{2}$ hours. Cut apart to serve. NOTE: If spit method is not used, spareribs must be turned constantly while broiling.

HERBED LOAVES

Cut long loaves of French bread in two or three lengthwise slices, spread each slice with seasoned butter, put together again, wrap in foil and heat through on grill. To serve, unwrap and slice. Use $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. butter and $\frac{1}{4}$ cup herb, such as rosemary, tarragon, basil or oregano. Cheese, sesame seed or poppy seed can also be mixed with butter.

We are always thoroughly happy to receive recipes, we like to have some in reserve. Old family favorites, or brand new items, anything at all that you would like to pass on to us. Please do not pass on cards from your recipe files unless you state that you would like same returned.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We received a letter from Gene and Phoebe Scott asking us why we had not printed anything regarding the person or persons who shot and killed Mollie, their pet deer.

The reason is quite simple, we have not received any factual information on the subject. We have heard several versions of hearsay, ranging from a whole ring of professional poachers, to one person to three or four persons. However, to the best of our knowledge, the gun firing the cartridges found on Scotts place has not been found, needless to say neither has the owner.

We would have assumed that Gene and Phoebe would have had more information than we have. Since we will not print names nor statements of fact on second or third hand information, we can't give you any concrete facts. Being that we are not a recognized source of news, the Sheriffs Office and other authorities do not pass any information on to us, and for the same reason, we do not feel authorized to inquire.

Dear Editor,

Kindness, "If you've had a kindness shown, pass it on. 'Twas not meant for you alone," when Elberta Balsley was still with us, she practiced this in a beautiful way. I saw her do it many times and once after my husband passed away, she called me by phone and said she would like to take me out for a ride.

Winter was over and summer had come with its wild flowers. Back into the woods we went and finally she stopped the car and we began to visit. In the woods we walked and talked. She had beautiful memories hanging on her memory walls of how she attended Sunday School and Church when she was a young lady and how she loved singing in the church choir. She also used to love to go hunting and fishing -- but suddenly she began to sing and her beautiful contralto voice filled the air with: "I think that I shall never see, a poem lovely as a tree. A tree whose hungry mouth is pressed against the earth's sweet flowing breast. A tree that looks at God all day and lifts her leafy arms to pray. A tree that may in summer wear a nest of robbers in her hair, upon whose bottom snow has lain, who intimately lives with rain. Poems are made by fools like me, but only God can make a tree."

Lives of great people all remind us that if we have had a kindness shown it is our privilege to try to make someone glad.

Elice Neher

Dear Editor,

Enjoy the paper, we read it every week. What happened to the plans for having the Sheriff back to the school with films? We have watched each issue waiting for a date, but haven't seen one as yet.

Also, what happened to the deputy who was supposed to be here this month, we haven't seen him either as yet.

Please put us down as being in favor of having another homespun fair, we think it would be a great thing for this community.

Keep up the good work, remember you can't please everybody, the majority are well satisfied with the paper.

Sincerely,
J.L.V.

Dear J.L.V.,

We would liked to have set up a date this month for Sheriff Gillick to come back to our area, however, we could not find an available night without conflicting with either Grange or School activities, so we will try to arrange for a date in April, depending on the Sheriffs schedule too.

The deputy has been in our area in the afternoons this week. He will begin full time patrol in a week or two. He will be coming around to your homes to meet as many persons as possible. In the meantime, should any of you have cause to call upon the Sheriffs department, ask for Deputy Hopkins, and he will be dispatched here as soon as possible.

We have received many calls supporting another homespun fair, and we hope to set one up for May.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Joyce Clark
Editor.
