Daniel Clark of Oregon House, Yuba county, and Miss Martha Keppel of Clear Creek, Butte county, were married today (Thursday) at 10:30, in the parlors of the Union Hotel. Rev. R. K. Ham performed the ceremony. Rev. J. A. Benton of Cherokee was asked to officiate, but was late in arriving and Mr. Ham was called and came in double quick time. Mr. Benton explained that his horse was lame, yet he arrived just in time to perform the act of congratulation, and to pocket the fee as a present from his generous brother of the cloth.

The bride, Miss Keppel, is a daughter of the late Garret Kepple who was one of the largest ranchers in Butte county. His family was large and are among our most prominent citizens. Miss Keppel has been the foster mother of her younger sisters who are grown to years of discretion. They formed a happy company as they bade good-bye to their dear sister at the depot. Rice, rice, rice.

The affair is happy also in the person of the groom, a typically ardent lover, simple and gentle in his affection. A resident of a neighboring county he takes a daughter of Butte for wife and we poured rice down his back to pay him for it.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark will visit relatives in Yolo county and spend some days in Clear Creek with the family before taking up their residence (or you might say putting down their residence) at Oregon House, where the groom owns a fine ranch. If the wishes of the many friends of the bride are fulfilled they will live long and happily in their relations so happily formed. Com.

GROOM AND BEST MAN

STRIVE FOR FIRST KISS

ADIS, Joseph
BECRAFT, Miss Maude
Feather River Bulletin
11-2-1908

RENO, Oct. 29.—Miss Maude Becraft, of Johnsville., Cal., and Joseph Adis of Chilcoot, Cal., were united in marriage yesterday afternoon by Justice of the Peace Frank Bell. The blushing bride of 19 summers and her proud husband-to-be entered the office of the Judge accompanied by Mrs. and Mrs. Quellish, relatives of the bride.

At the conclusion of the brief ceremony an amusing incident occurred, not down on the program. The groom believed he had the first claim upon his bride for a husband's kiss, and proceeded to take advantage of his rights.

It seems that the best man, Thomas Quellish, when he was married not long ago, was prevented from securing the first kiss from his bride by Adis, who "beat him to it," at their ceremony. Now was his opportunity for reciprocity.

Quietly Quellish awaited the final word of the Judge, when with a rush he made a desperate effort to secure the first kiss. The result was that both the bridegroom and the 'best man' came into laughable collision at the mouth of the bride. Instantly confusion reigned between the two ardent men, while the girl stood transfixed, giving both an equal chance. Quellish, the "best man," won out, exclaiming to Adis, "I told you I'd get even with you."

The groom is a well-known hotel and restaurant man of Chilcoot.

A HOME WEDDING

The Happy Culmination of an Affair of the Heart.

At the house of the bride's brother, J. C. Mullen, on Wednesday evening at half past eight o'clock, occurred the wedding of Miss Mary Mullen to Lynn S. Palmer of Douglas. The affair was a charming one, correct in every detail and no pains were spared to make the occasion a happy and joyous one.

The Mullen home had been tastily decorated for the event, flowers of all kinds lending their fragrance and beauty. At the north end of the spacious hall had been arranged a bower of evergreens and just in front of it a floral bell. This artistic arrangement was brilliantly lighted and under the bell the ceremony was performed that united the two young people in the holy bonds of wedlock.

Promptly at half past eight the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Lois Mullen, niece of the bride, were heard. Preceding the bridal procession, the ribbon girls, Edith Mullen and Ruth McComas fulfilled their duties and the ring bearer, little Thelma Mullen, entered the hall followed by the groom and J. O. Mullen as best man. They were followed by the bride's maid, her sister Miss Lottie Mullen, and lastly came the bride upon the arm of her father. The ring ceremony was performed by Rev. T. F. Bolger.

Immediately after the completion of the ceremony the young people received the congratulations of their friends and were also the recipients of several congratulatory telegrams from California relatives who were unable to be present in person. Light refreshments were served and at 10:30 the bride and groom departed in an automobile for parts unknown, though it was generally supposed that their destination was Phoenix. Another supposition is that they intend to spend a day or two there and leave at the end of that time for their future home in Douglas.

An elaborate array of presents in which cut glass and silver ware predominated attested to the popularity and esteem in which the young couple are held by their many friends here. The groom, though a Douglas man, has been a visitor here on several occasions and is highly regarded by all who know him. He is a prominent Elk and holds a responsible position in his home town with the A. & C. company.

The bride is too well known in Tempe to require any elaboration upon her charming personality or good qualities. She is the youngest daughter of J. B. Mullen and is a native of Arizona. She is a graduate of the normal and since the completion of her school work has been teaching in the Douglas city schools. It was while engaged in this that she made the acquaintance of the young man who Wednesday evening claimed her as his bride.

FRIENDS WITNESS THE CEREMONY

At a very pretty wedding celebrated at "The Oaks," the picturesque home of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Leggett, Miss Bessie, their eldest daughter, became the bride of Mr. Allen B. Swords last evening. Following the wedding, which was celebrated at 6 o'clock, a wedding supper was served, and following the supper, from 8 to 10 o'clock a reception was tendered, at which a large number of the friends of the young couple and of the family gathered to extend their best wishes and congratulations.

The reception-rooms of the Leggett home had been decorated for the occasion, a most artistic effect being secured by a profuse use of maidenhair fern, smilax, and jonquills. In the large bay-window in the parlor an arbor of smilax and fern had been built, to which was suspended a wedding-bell, in its turn made of fern, smilax, and jonquills.

As Miss Irene Walcott, a class-mate of the bride at Mills Seminary, played the beautiful strains of Lohengrin, the bridal party entered the room and the bride and groom took their place under the wedding-bell. The bridesmaid was Miss Alice Leggett. The groom was attended by Mr. Percy Murdock. Elton Leggett, Ruth Kitrick, Minerva Kitrick, Marjorie Graham and Doris Powers acted as ribbon-bearers.

The marriage ceremony was pronounced by Rev. Roscoe D. Douglass, pastor of the Congregational Church.

The bride was given away by her father.

Miss Leggett made a charming bride. She was attired in an embroidered ivory satin Empire gown, with a long train, and a bride's veil, caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of maidenhair fern and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaid, Miss Alice Leggett, wore an embroidered yellow messaline gown, made Empire. Mrs. Leggett was attired in a very handsome flame-colored satin gown, also made Empire.

The wedding was attended by about fifty of the friends of the family. A larger number had been invited to the reception, and from 8 o'clock until a few minutes after 9 o'clock, when the bride and groom were hurried away to Chico to Mr. Leggett's big touring car, they were the recipients of constant congratulations and the wishes of their friends for a long and happy life.

Mrs. Swords and Mrs. Leggett were assisted in receiving by Mrs. John Bovie and Mrs. Casper Bovie of San Francisco, Mrs. McSmith, Mrs. R. S. Kitrick, Mrs. R. S. Powers, Mrs. J. J. Hamlyn, Mrs. H. J. Graham, and Miss Gladys Armstrong of Berkeley.

During the course of the reception refreshments were served in the dining-room by a bevy of young girls, all of whom, although belonging to the younger set, were friends of the bride. Those assisting in this capacity were Frances Myers, Helen Hills, Kathleen Slaven, Mildred Powers, Geraldine Hamlyn, and Jessie Helman.

Shortly after 9 o'clock the bride and groom left the reception and donned traveling clothes. As the bride left she threw her bouquet toward the guests, and there was a merry scramble for it.
