Lieut. Leggett Weds
In Atlantic City

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Leggett received a telegram yesterday informing them of the marriage of their son, Lieut. Kenneth Leggett, to Miss Mary Eleanor Buckner of Washington, D. C. The marriage was celebrated on Saturday at Atlantic City.

The bride comes of a prominent Virginia family. The family home has been in Washington for some time. The engagement was announced some time ago. Her charm and beauty is revealed by photos sent by Lieut. Leggett to his parents here.

Lieut. Leggett is a graduate of the local high school, and of the University of California. At the outbreak of the war, he entered the air service and has performed distinguished service there. For some time he has been engaged in mapping aerial routes over the United States, and his work has attracted widespread attention.

Lieut. and Mrs. Leggett will spend a honeymoon at Atlantic City. Lieut. Leggett plans to leave the service and is planning to enter into business in Washington.

Miss Clarice Hillary Becomes Bride Of Walter Bolles

At an elaborate wedding which took place in the parlors of the Congregational Church last Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock, Miss Clarice Hillary, of New Zealand, became the bride of Walter Ehmann Bolles, one of Oroville's best known young men.

The parlors of the Congregational Church were filled with admiring friends and relatives of the bride and groom. During the interval prior to the ceremony a number of enchanting musical selections were played by Mrs. J. H. Bullard at the organ, while Miss Mattie Elliott, in a pleasing soprano voice sang "O Promise Me."

As the hour of the ceremony drew near the immediate members of the groom's family, including Mrs. E. H. Bolles, Mrs. Frieda Ehmann, Mrs. E. W. Ehmann, George Ehmann and Mrs. George H. Collins, of Oakland, mother of Mrs. Ehmann, were escorted to their seats by Clyde Brown, Arthur McKillop, Harry Bills, Harry Witherspoon and Alex Wilson, groomsmen for the occasion. Mrs. Robert McDonald of Oakland, wife of the best man, also sat with members of the family.

Eight debutantes, who acted as attendants, beautifully attired in attractive organdies, were then seated by the groomsmen. The girls were: Mary McGregor, Helen Huntington, Mildred Waters, Minerya Kitrick, Frances Crow, Lucile Bass and Mildred Duncan.

To the tune of Lohengrin's Wedding March, the Rev. W. J. Johnson, who performed the ceremony, entered from the southern door of the church parlors, marching to the altar. He was followed by the groom, Walter Bolles, accompanied by the best man, Mr. Robert McDonald of San Francisco. From the north doors of the parlors then came the bridal procession, lead by Clyde Brown and Arthur McKillop, groomsmen. They were followed in line of march by two flower girls, little Miss Frances Wilbur and Katherine Stapleton. Marion Ehmann and Marybelle Herrin, bridesmaids, then appeared. Miss Ehmann was attired in beautiful green silk taffeta and wore a white flower hat. She carried a bouquet of exquisite sweet peas and roses of the pastel shade. Miss Herrin wore a pink silk taffeta dress and a pink flower hat to match. She also carried a bouquet of sweet peas and roses of the pastel shade.

Before the bride marched Miss Helen Bolles, sister of the groom, and maid of honor. Miss Bolles wore a stunning blue silk creation and an attractive pastel shade hat to match. She carried a dainty bouquet of pink bridesmaid roses. Following the bridesmaid marched the bride, Miss Hillary, on the arm of E. W. Ehmann. The bride's attire represented the choice of Parisian fashion, it having been brought from Paris by Miss Hillary during a recent visit to Europe. The wedding gown was of white georgette and lace. A tulle and lace. A beautiful flowing tulle bridal veil and the customary wreath of orange blossoms were also worn by the bride. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

At the altar, which had been transformed into a bower of green, the Rev. W. J. Johnson pronounced the wedding ceremony. The bride was given away by Mr. Ehman.

Following the ceremony invited guests retired to the home of Mrs. E. H. Bolles where a reception and bridal supper were enjoyed.

The Misses Katherine and Harriet Hundley of Berkeley, nieces of Mrs. R. S. Powers, of this city, rendered several beautiful numbers at the piano and with the violin. Humorous remarks were given by Mr. Ehmann, who acted as toastmaster; Mrs. C. B. Griggs, J. B. Wilbur and the Rev. W. J. Johnson.

The reception rooms of the Bolles residence were elaborately decorated in the pastel of pink, white and orchid shades.

A central decoration effect was carried out on the bridal table which was a bower of anemone, sweet peas and moline bows of the orchid color.

Shortly after midnight Mr. and Mrs. Bolles left by automobile for a wedding tour which will take them through Southern California. Upon their return to Oroville they will make their home here.

CHARMING PULGA MISS MARRIED SATURDAY TO RAILROAD STOREKEEPER

Miss Lillian Wilda King, That Was, Now Mrs. Joseph Graham of Sacramento—Ceremony at Feather River Canyon Home of Bride's Parents

PULGA, Sept. 24.—Miss Lillian Wilda King, charming and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. King of this place, Saturday morning became the bride of Joseph B. Graham of Sacramento at a pretty ceremony performed at 10:30 o'clock in the King home at Pulga. The Reverend W. S. Kelly, pastor of the Methodist Church of Oroville, officiated at the event.

This marriage, said to be the first wedding solemnized in the Feather River Canyon, was witnessed by fifty relatives and friends of the contracting couple.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Edna King, as bridesmaid, while Rolland Cantelow, of Oakland, supported the bridegroom. The wedding party entered the room to the strains of a wedding march exquisitely rendered on the violin by Miss Margaret Murphy, of Reno, accompanied on the piano by Miss Marjorie Lorey, a former school teacher, of Pulga.

The home was beautifully decorated with native flowers and fern from the King garden and presented a most attractive appearance. An elaborate wedding breakfast followed the ceremony.

The wedding is the culmination of a romance that had its inception when Mr. Graham, storekeeper for the Western Pacific Railroad Company, began to make monthly business trips into the canyon.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Graham enjoy a wide acquaintance and were the recipients of many beautiful gifts from their friends. The happy couple went Saturday night for an extended honeymoon trip through Southern California. Upon their return they will reside in Sacramento, where a charming home awaits them.

Mrs. Lillian Wilda Graham was the first white child born at Pulga and received her grammar school education here, finishing with a complete course in the Oroville Union High School. Her father, W. H. King, came from New Jersey to California, constructing the first telephone line to connect Oroville with Quincy, via the Feather River Canyon. The Kings were at Pulga five years before the advent of the Western Pacific Railroad and expect to be present to welcome the first automobile to reach their little town.

Among guests at the wedding of their daughter were:

Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Stuart, E. P. Roberts of Sacramento, Rolland Cantelow of Oakland, Miss Lila Morton, Russell Landis of Berkeley, Mrs. Howard Hawkins of Huntington, West Virginia, Mrs. R. L. Ross of Caribou, Mrs. Mary McGregor, a school mate of the bride, Mrs. J. L. Bender of Portola, Miss Helen Livesly, Mrs. Wm. Pennington, Mr. and Mrs. Shattuck and daughter Elsie, Miss Katherine Kilmore, of Oroville, Miss Margaret Murphy, of Reno, Miss Marjorie Lorey, of Paxton, B. D. Maynard of Rich, L. D. SHELTERS—STREUBEL
NUPTIALS

The marriage of Mrs. Anna Shelters and Gustave Streubel took place yesterday afternoon at the home of the Rev. W. J. Johnson. They were attended by Mesdames Lena White and F. L. Alt.

Mrs. Streubel is a daughter of Mrs. Lydia Stewart of Greenville street and a sister of Mrs. John Washburn. She was formerly a resident of Pennsylvania but has been living in Oroville for the past year.

Streubel is a resident of Yankee Hill.

A charivari was given the newly-weds last night and they were taken for a joy ride through the city in a car, with lots of noise, and accompanied by a half dozen cars all trying to outdo the others in their loud congratulations.

On their return to the home of Mrs. Stewart a reception was held and delicious refreshments were served. The wedding cake was especially beautiful, iced in white and decorated with tiny pink roses. Mrs. L. W. Higgins made the cake.

The bride and groom were the recipients of a number of handsome gifts. Mr. Streubel has a ranch at Yankee Hill, where he and his bride will reside.
