HOROSCOPES**

Weekly Horoscopes for the week of May 5 to 12, 1972.

CAPRICORN December 21 to January 21

The bad news has reached you and passed now you must make preparations to ensure your security. The logical path may be the least attractive to you, so close consideration should be given all decisions.

AQUARIUS January 22 to February 18

Do not attempt to interfere in friendships of your mate or loved one. Though you may find these friendships annoying and less than sincere, it is not your place to judge their value.

PISCES February 19 to March 20

The children or youth in your family may cause you a great deal of anxiety and concern. Contemplate your role carefully before speaking, and beware of being critical.

Your acts of kindness and generosity have not gone unnoticed or unappreciated. Continue on your new path and your attitude will prevail.

TAURUS April 21 to May 20

Beware of any situation which could breed into slander or malicious gossip. Ignore the temptations and tend to your routine work.

Time for Gemini's to take a long, hard look at their lives, and your influence on those around you. Since you can look at any situation objectively, do not let your pride stand in the way of making necessary corrections.

CANCER June 21 to July 20

Beware of depression this week. Look up some of your old friends, enjoy your friendships and quit worrying over those ill fated situations. Solitude is not for you during this entire week.

Be cautious of those persons who would use you or your connections to their own advantage. If you feel compelled to help, do so with reservations. Play by your rules or not at all.

Keep a tight rein on your eagerness for revenge. You could end up putting yourself in a very vulnerable situation. You could also be aiming your hostility in the wrong direction.

SCORPIO October 23 to November 22

Discuss your plans and ideas openly and freely with your loved ones. Do not close yourself off to their thoughts, desires and suggestions.

SAGITTARIUS November 23 to December 20

Community disputes may make your life frustrating this week. Be sure you have legitimate complaints before engaging your sharp, critical tongue. You could benefit by being a little more understanding and patient.

A SICK AMERICAN

There are those that claim ours is a sick society, that our country is sick; our government is sick; that we are sick. Well maybe their right. I submit that I'm sick...and maybe you are too. I am sick of policemen being ridiculed and called "pigs" while cop killers are hailed as some kind of folk hero.

I am sick of commentators and columnists cannonizing anarchists, revolutionaries, and criminal rapists, but condemning law enforcement when such criminals are brought to justice.

I'm sick of paying more and more taxes to build new schools while

I see some faculty members encouraging students to either tear them down or burn them.

I'm sick of being told that pornography is the right of a free press, but freedom of the press does not include being able to read the Bible on school grounds.

I'm sick of supreme court decisions which turn criminals loose on society - while other decisions try to take away my means of protecting myself and my future family.

I'm sick of pot smoking entertainers deluging me with their condemnation of my moral standards on radios and late night television.

I'm sick of being told that policemen are mad dogs who should not have guns, but the criminals who use guns to rob, maim and murder should be helped and understood and be put back into society.

I'm sick of riots, marches, protests, demonstrations, confrontations, and the other mobs temper tantrums of people intellectually incapable of working within the system.

I'm sick of having the same sick slogans, phrases, and cries of the people who must chant the same thing like zombies because they haven't the capacity for verbalizing thought.

I'm sick of politicians with no backbone.

I'm sick of the decline of personal honesty, personal integrity and human sincerity.

Most of all I'm sick of being told that I'm sick. I'm sick of being told my country's sick, when we have the greatest nation that man will ever see.

Yes I am sick, but if I am sick I can get well, I can also help my society and country get well with feelings of honesty knowing I've at least done something.

Take note, all of you....you will not find me throwing a rock or a bomb. You will not see me take to the streets, you won't find me ranting at wild eyed mobs.

But you will find me at work, paying taxes, serving in the community where I live, you will also find me expressing anger at bigoted officials, you will find me working for a better country and not its destruction.

Yes I am only an American sailor doing his job to the best of his abilities and working within to help people in the future to have a better society and freedom forever.

Sincerely,
Mike Hill

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

When the urgent call was sent over the radio for people in America to pray for missionaries whose lives are being threatened over in the war area, I remembered what happened 72 years ago. The cry "Kill, kill the Christians." Many of them were imprisoned in the walled city of Peking.

It was called the Boxer Rebellion.

There was peace in our land but thousands prayed for those missionaries. While Jesus the Christ was here on earth he gave instructions concerning going into all the world and preaching and teaching the Gospel.

The missionaries had done a good job and when they were penned up in Peking, a Chinese boy was willing to risk his life for those who had taught him the Jesus doctrine.

It was 80 miles to Tientsen, where our ground forces were stationed. Could these waiting Christians get word to them to get help? Finally, the Chinese boy volunteered to go over the wall so high and grim, cautiously he was lowered down to the ground.

More than once the boy was caught and beaten and the Boxers tried to drown him but they could not, for a hand Divine was leading him through the darkness, through the day, guarding him who bore the message hidden in the garb he wore.

Wearry, faint, he reached the soldiers. "That brave boy." The soldiers rose to march, defeating the enemy along the way. The world may have forgotten how they leveled the walls and gates of Old Peking, while the world was wondering, but when are we going to tell the story we should never forget, that prayer changes things and God depends on people who risk their lives to take messages to people when help is needed?

So all Christians who prayed yesterday can now trust God to look after the missionaries whose work is being hindered.

If we all read the second Psalm in the Bible we can be confident that if those who pray are right with God, then their prayers avail much.

Sincerely,
Elice B. Neher

POETRY CORNER

The following was passed on to us, and written by one of our weekly readers who wishes their identity kept out of the paper. We think it is very good, what about you?

Fill my life with friends and fun
Give me love til my days are all done.
Balance the heartaches, the pain and the fears,
With joy and laughter and let me share
my years.
Give me hope to help through each day
Some one to turn to, a prayer to say

I'll do my best to do my part,
And this whole world into my heart.

Poems for this section are always welcomed, whether it is an original, or a forgotten one by a famous or unknown poet.

HISTORY OF THE WEDDING RING

Throughout the ages the wedding ring has taken many forms. In pre-historic times, man thought that a rope of grass tied around the waist would prevent the escape of the spirit so he tied the grass rope about his mates waist, wrist and ankles to keep her spirit under his control. Later these bands were placed on the finger and finally rings of flint, ivory or amber took their place.

In ancient Rome the wife was given a ring of gold to wear in public but at home she wore a ring of iron for housework. In the early Greek Church the mans ring was iron symbolizing masculine force. The womans gold, a weaker but purer composition. But in the East a gold ring signified the superiority of the man, while the brides ring was silver to show that she was the weaker vessel.

Today the circle of the wedding ring symbolizes devotion and happiness unending.
