***BACKYARD ADVENTURE NO.2***
By: Lou Salzarulo

In the Concow Yankee Hill area

we have two main types of soil; the D.C. (decomposed granite) in the Concow area and the red clay of the lower elevations. Even so, soil can vary from one yard to the next. If we could successfully mix the two and add organic matter we would have a good soil balance.

Reliable soil testing kits are available at local nurseries, but the best way to get to know your soil is to get "into it".....with a shovel! Both of the above types need additional humus material; manure, compost, leaf mold, peat moss, and well decomposed sawdust. Spread a three inch layer on the ground and work it in to a depth of ten inches.

The red clay soil is very rich in nutrients but hard to work.

Pumice, perlite, and vermiculite will give hard clay soil the aeration needed to keep it from compacting. The sandy d.g. soil has a higher acidity and "liming" with garden lime will counteract this condition.

We have an abundance of "free" fertilizer in the area: manure, leaf mold, sawdust and fish. If you use the heads and entrails of fish let them stand covered with water in a bucket for five days. Then pour the liquid on the garden. This will keep animals and insects from stealing your fertilizer and digging up the rows. Commercial "liquid fish" is one of the most expensive and highly nutritious fertilizers available. Horse manure can be handled the same way. The grassy substance will float to the top of the bucket and make a perfect mulch over the hot summer months.

If you want to garden in Eden
First discover what your soil is needin'
Problems will be fewer
With fish heads and manure
And stay with that hoein' and weedin'!

***LOVE THY NEIGHBOR***
By: Jimmie Lee

It seems like the longer the human race is around the less tolerant we are of each other. At this time we have nations at war with one another, states rivaling each other, counties that feel far superior to their fellow counties, cities competing with each other and it works its way down to small communities like our own. You would think that people living in a rural area such as our own would have developed a really good relationship through having to depend on each other for help from time to time but what happens? If someone in our community is badly in need of help there are usually people who come forward to give a hand but the day to day normal existence is another story. We have plenty to do but we take time out to gossip about one another. We all have our faults but its much more enjoyable to criticize our neighbor than it is to face our own shortcomings. It is much more sensible to help someone out but how many of us spend time thinking up ways to "get even" for some injustice. Don't you think it's about time we realized that we are all in this boat together and won't get anywhere til we all row in the same direction? Couldn't we start the day with a kind thought and a wish to help each other instead of starting all over again on yesterday's quarrels. Most of the people in our community are good people, enjoyable people, who can be good friends---and we can all be friends with each other, there's no need to take sides. As for the few people who have no use for friends---leave them be, they live their own retribution. Please friends, lets all start tomorrow with a new thought, a new aim. Let's love one another and help one another---after all, we are all we've got in this world.

***EXCERPTS FROM ANOTHER MOTHER FOR PEACE ARTICLES ON RADIOACTIVE POLLUTION IN THE U.S.***

"The radioactive materials that get into the environment through the testing of nuclear weapons, even underground, lead to an increase in the number of babies born with gross physical or mental defects and to an increase in the number of people who incur cancer... Scientists may disagree about how many unborn children and living people are damaged, but no reputable scientist denies that this damage occurs."

Dr. Linus Pauling, twice Nobel Prize winner.

On December 17, 1970, a 20 kiloton bomb tested in Nevada vented, producing a radioactive cloud which drifted northward spilling radiation over 12 western states. Out of 200 underground tests, 68 have vented.

A $45 million fire in Dow Chemical's nuclear bomb factory at Rocky Flats released trillions of plutonium particles which have permanently contaminated the Denver area.

Over 90 billion gallons of nuclear waste are buried in Washington, Idaho, So. Carolina, and Tennessee. A report ordered.....suppressed....and finally, under pressure, released by the Atomic Energy Commission concluded: "None of the existing AEC disposal installations is in satisfactory geologic locations."

The United States owns 10,000 nuclear bombs....enough to kill every man, woman and child in the world 3 times over.

One of the worst accidents came when a quantity of oil contaminated with plutonium was scooped up, placed in a drum and trucked off for disposal at official AEC burial grounds in Idaho. En route the drum began to leak. Over a mile of highway was contaminated. The AEC's solution was to repave the road. Plutonium's half-life of 24,000 years is a good deal longer than the full-life of asphalt, and years from now, when the roadbed wears away, the hot plutonium will be exposed, to contaminate unborn generations.

Roger Rapoport
The Great American
Bomb Machine

250 square miles of Nevada---an area large enough to support a population the size of the City of Los Angeles---has been so contaminated by the testing of nuclear weapons, that it is off-limits to any human being for the next 24,000 years!

based on AEC REPORTS

This is where nuclear weapons are manufactured, tested, deployed and stockpiled in every state in the union except four. There are 10 locations in California.

***CONTEST SECTION***

This month the subject is: What person has had the single greatest influence on your life?

Please try to limit your letters to 500 words. We ask our readers to pick the winner for the month by phone or letter. At the end of the month the winner will be announced and awarded by $5.00 by the CYHI.

This month there have been two letters for this month, the one which follows and the one by Elice B. Neher in issue #35.

What person has had the single greatest influence on my life? I've procrastinated writing for each time I gathered my thoughts a different person 'weighed' in.

I was next to the eldest child of foreign born parents who understood but did not speak the English language. When I was small, a new world opened up for me on entering school. I idolized my first grade teacher. She was the most!

Because I liked school, my relationship with the teachers was easy. I had studied with a passion. Had to have high marks or grades to prove to my fellow classmates, that being a "Hunky" was not inferior. Our community had mostly Polish, Russian, Slovaks and some Italians. The "Americans," as the white folks were called, harrassed the "minorities" in the small Ohio town of Stratton, where I remained in school until the seventh grade.

After a serious flu epidemic, and schools were closed, I was allowed to live in with a family who needed help with two small children. It was the late Dr. J. S. McCullochs, where I stayed six years - completed high school in Wellsville, Ohio.

During my life with the McCulloch's I had many new exposures - coming there at the age of twelve, I really entered a new world! Mrs. McCulloch was my beloved mentor. I cherish two special memories - our talks about her being the first woman president (she was so wise!) the other about a story I wrote for an English class assignment, "A Trip to The Moon." The title may have been her idea, but I had to work out a way to get to the moon and my return trip home. So what's new?

Another world with influences opened up for a small "hick" from the backwoods, when I entered Nurses Training School at the Mt. Sinai Hospital in New York City. Five hundred miles away at that time was a great distance from home and all that was familiar to me.

The next twelve years were spent in Manhattan where wonders never ceased. Maybe the late Dr. A.A. Berg for whom I did surgical nursing nearly eight years, and the most influence on my life. Because of him many new horizons opened up. In the big city I learned how the other half lived.

Paolo was attending art school with a cousin of mine. They were roommates in New York City. That was some 35 years ago. After our marriage we remained in the city just a few months---I became transplanted to California, and a NEW way of life. With a rebel idealist. You know what? That was when I really began to LIVE. After our arrival west - Paolo worked at Universal Studios Motion Pictures, I found employment at the Hollywood Hospital on Vermont Avenue for a couple of years.

Then we chose to live in the country. Three precious children and our address changes with each move was a step in progression.

Being married to a self employed bread winner had its moments. It seemed that more and more time was being spent reading and with books Paolo did the studying and I absorbed, as, by osmosis, all the time learning to really live a life close to my God.

Who did I sift out of the influences as the single most? To be honest, I must say, my long time mentor and patient husband, Paolo Grieco.

Sincerely,
Jay Grieco.

***LETTERS TO THE EDITOR***

Dear Editor:

In your last issue you remarked that more people should write articles. It has been my displeasure to notice that in many cases you have used exact word phrasing and sentence structure. I have been told that the job of Editor is just that, to EDIT. This means to prepare (another person's writings) for publication.

Many people are full of good ideas but lack the skill for writing "good copy". I feel more people would be encouraged to write if you would perform this function for them. I would also appreciate seeing the contest section geared to the writing abilities of the area. Few people can express their opinion on World Peace, but many could and would write about the school swimming pool. Let's get down to earth on current events and leave the moon to the astronauts.

Sincerely,
The Jail Bird

Dear Editor,

I would like to publicly thank all of my friends for their cards, phone calls, letters and visits to me during my stay in the hospital. It has been a nerve racking experience, and the continued interest and support of my friends has been the greatest morale builder I've had.

I would also like to thank the local daily newspapers for printing the article about the shooting incident, and especially for printing my home address in them. Now the culprit or future ones can pay me a visit at their discretion, and attempt another shooting should they so decide.

Sincerely,
Cliff Nitz

Dear Editor,

We remember back in 1957 when we first bought our land and moved from L.A., people up around here we did not even know were saying "we wish there was some law up here." We heard that for about three years but nobody said or did anything about it. We, too, could see that there was a need for some kind of law, such as a deputy sheriff, so we went to the Sheriff's Department several times about the matter.

Now we have a deputy and in our minds he is a very good man, fresh out of school and assigned to cover a large area. Some people of the community are not very kind, he has been on the job about 2½ months and already they are making trouble.

We don't know very much about Mr. Pyle but what dealings we have had with him, ne is "tops". However, we do not live at that end of the trouble.

Now a thought about Deputy Hopkins. We had him at our place in regard to a vacation we were going to take. We had a nice talk, I showed him around the place so he would know where and what to look for in case we did go away. We believe we have a very nice deputy. He doesn't appear to be a "bully" or a man who would try to be one, but we don't believe he would "back down" in a pinch. However, he would be a damn fool to stick his face into a gun. I don't believe any of us would be that foolish and any time any of us in the Yankee Hill area can give the man any help he only has to ask. We are not saying this to get on the good side of the law, but really mean it. He can stop at our house for a beer or a cup of coffee anytime day or night. We are always up until 11 or 12 p.m. Let's pull together and do our best to keep this a decent law-abiding place to live.

Sincerely,
Mr. & Mrs. E. V.
Hoehler

Dear Editor,

In your last issue you had a good editorial that should serve as a small lesson to all of us. Many of our local residents were unhappy about some rumors they had heard about a new deputy being appointed. For many reasons this is understandable.

However, in your editorial you stated that people should give credit where it is due, instead of remaining silent when we are pleased.

I have only met Bob Hopkins once, but I must say he appears to be the type of law enforcement we need more of. I have never seen him flash his gun or heard him brag about using it, however, I do feel if there were to be a true emergency situation he would be more than capable.

Stephanie Rowe

Ed. Note: We have stated in past issues that we will be more than happy to help anyone in compiling material for publication, however, we have also stated unless so specifically stipulated on letters, they will appear in the paper exactly as written.

Next week there will be a new section beginning in the CYHI, it will consist of a continuing series of fiction western articles, written by local residents.
